MEN'S FRATERNITY

YOU CAN'T CLIMB
THE MOUNTAIN OF MANHOOD
DISCONNECTED
FROM OTHER MEN...

LifeWay | Adults

The Quest for Authentic Manhood is more than just a study title. It describes the very hopes—and challenges—we have as Christian men.

In it, the first of the Men's Fraternity curriculum series, author Robert Lewis tells the story of going mountain climbing with his son. As they edged higher, they came to a narrow ledge.

There, high above the rocks below, Lewis came to a very real and immediate understanding of how foolish it would be to cut the rope that bound him to his son and their guide. How hopeless it would be for him to try to do it alone.

Pastor Lewis began Men's Fraternity with a core group of 30 men in his Little Rock church. Today, nearly 1400 men gather at 6 a.m. each Tuesday to participate. But why?

The True Power of Men's Fraternity lies in bringing men together to learn and listen to each other. There are no gimmicks—just an informal 45-minute teaching period followed by 20–30 minutes for men to gather in smaller groups to talk about what they've heard, how it applies to their everyday problems, and offer their mutual support.

That's important. And the impact can be felt not just in our lives—but also in our families ... in the workplace ... and even the church.

> > > > MEN NEED EACH OTHER.

Today, more than ever, we need to be connected to other men who can help us become all that God intends us to be. We need to be challenged ... to be encouraged ... and held accountable. That is the promise of Men's Fraternity, a proven ministry that's sweeping the country. And now it's coming to a fellowship near you.
